Holiday Accidents Take 563 Lives; 25 Injured in Marion and Vicinity

AUTOMOBILE accidents and fireworks mishaps injured 25 persons in Marion and vicinity over the July 4 holiday. The day was comparatively quiet here and few mishaps were serious. In the nation, however, 563 were dead, believed to be a new high mark for the Fourth week-end. Only four died from fireworks injuries.

Two Kenton residents were killed in a traffic crash near Sandusky.

Five persons were injured by fireworks in Marion and one in Caledonia.

In Ohio 25 persons were killed.

Seven persons were injured in a collision near Meeker, two in hospital here and two at Bucyrus. A driver was arrested in an accident in which a 70-year-old Akron woman was injured near Caledonia.

Three persons were injured in a head-on crash at Summit street and Mt. Vernon avenue. Three Marion county residents injured in accident at Norwalk. A Cardington man is in City hospital with injuries suffered when car was hit by train.

SIX HURT IN COUNTY BY FIREWORKS

A "saner" observance of the Fourth of July in Marion and vicinity this year was indicated today when a survey showed a decrease of one-third in the number of injuries attributable to fireworks and other explosives.

Six persons were reported injured over the holiday this year, as compared to nine last year. In addition, none of the week-end's injuries were regarded as serious, while several serious injuries were reported in 1936.

Thomas J. Fitzpatrick of 332 Oliney avenue suffered an injury to his left eye when he was struck by a splinter from a wooden box, which had been exploded by a heavy cracker. The attending physician said the eye-ball was not injured but that the eye-lid was cut. The accident occurred last night as Mr. Fitzpatrick was entertaining a group of children.

Howard Johnson, 12, son of Harry Johnson of Caledonia, was burned about the face when a can of naphtha exploded yesterday afternoon. William Price of 348 Oliney avenue suffered burns on his right ankle yesterday afternoon in the explosion of a firecracker.

Kenneth Helbner, a truck driver for the Omar Baking Co., was burned about the face and right hand by a firecracker which was thrown into the cab of his truck from a passing automobile. Helbner told a physician he was driving to Marion from Cardington Saturday evening when he was injured. The other car did not stop. Helbner suffered powder burns about the right eye and on two fingers of his right hand.

Danny James, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. James of 224 East Washington avenue, suffered burns on three fingers of his right hand when a firecracker exploded before he could throw it away. The burns were not considered serious, but he was given tetanus serum to prevent infection, the attending physician said. The boy was hurt while playing at a picnic of Old Fort Mills, Inc., employes, held Sunday at the Augenstein grove near Waldo.

Elmore Bush of Boone avenue suffered minor burns on one hand, also in the premature explosion of a firecracker.

Marion police passed out numerous warnings about use of fireworks in the city but expressed a belief that the holiday passed more quietly than in recent years. Three youths were arrested last Saturday for throwing firecrackers from an automobile but no other arrests for similar causes were made.

HEALTH BOARD DEFENDS CODE

County Department Heads To Explain New Milk Rules To Producers.

FAIR TRIAL REQUESTED

Members Not Inclined To Repeal; Say Farmers Probably Misunderstand.

Voicing the opinion the new county milk code should not be repealed or condemned without a fair trial, members of the county board of health at a regular meeting Saturday afternoon voted to authorize Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, and E. B. Willey, county sanitarian, to answer the protests of a group of Marion county farmers producing milk by explaining the code and its purposes through a public statement.

The board took this action after hearing Dr. Sifritt relay a message from a committee of farmers asking the county board to meet with the milk producers and hear their complaints about the code which went into effect July 1.

Repeal Not Favored

Several members, in a discussion said they do not feel inclined to repeal the code. Dr. B. D. Osborn of Waldo, member of the board, pointed out the plan is to put the code into effect gradually so that it will not work a hardship on anyone, and said the time to consider change or repeal of the code is after it has been given a trial.

Dr. Sifritt, in his comments to the board, said chief criticism of the code apparently came from producers who were least affected by it. The code primarily governs farmers and milk dealers handling milk for sale in sections of the county outside the city of Marion, he said.

Farmers fearing the code will work a hardship on them apparently misunderstand the code, Dr. Sifritt continued. Board members, agreeing that misunderstanding probably is the cause of the complaints, said during the discussion they felt little could be gained by a meeting of the two groups, and decided on a public statement by Dr. Sifritt and Mr. Willey as the best means of clearing up a possible misunderstanding.

Reports of the work of county nurses, Misses Lillian Rose, Mary I. Holland and Bertha Bell, and of Mr. Willey were read.

514 Visits Listed

The nurses, in a joint report, listed 514 visits including 113 in the care of tuberculosis cases and 49 in the interests of children of pre-school age and reported diphtheria toxoid given to 15 persons. Thirty-eight persons were given tuberculin tests, half of which resulted in positive reactions. Ninety-five visits were made for persons who are bedfast.

Mr. Willey reported 20 new sanitary units and two new septic tanks were installed last month. Visits were made to 20 private premises, 11 camp sites, three swimming pools, three schools, nine sources of public water supply and 10 sources of semi-public and private water supply. In the interests of protecting food and milk purity, he visited 20 restaurants, 17 dairy farms and 17 milk plants and reported correction of 11 unsatisfactory conditions.

SOLDIERS HELP REOPEN PLANTS AT CLEVELAND

Several Hundred Workers Stream Into Mills Amid Heavily Armed Troops.

THREE UNITS START UP

Independents Now Claim Virtual Victory Over CIO Strike Forces.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 6—Ohio national guardsmen, police and deputy sheriffs, 1,500 strong, broke the siege of three strike-locked plants of the Republic Steel Corp. here today.

With machine-guns set up at the mill gates, the heavily armed guardsmen stood vigil while several hundred workers went back to their jobs after 11 days of idleness.

The back-to-work movement left independent steel producers in a position to claim that with the exception of a few plants, all their mills were operating at least partially in defiance of John L. Lewis' CIO walkout.

Few Pickets Jeer

Only a few pickets bawled raucous jeers at the men going back into the three plants—the big Corrigan-McKinney works, the Upson Nut division and the Truscon steel plant. The mills normally employ about 6,000 men.

A fourth plant, Steel & Tube, which was scheduled to reopen along with the others at 7 a. m. was kept shut for the time being.

In addition to the national guardsmen, 361 city police and 73 deputies enforced peace in the "dangerous strike zones" proclaimed by Sheriff Martin O'Donnell within a radius of 1,500 yards of each plant.

A big crowd, booing in chorus, massed on the rim of a bluff overlooking the Corrigan-McKinney plant, as several hundred automobile-loads of non-strikers rolled through the company gates.

By automobile and on foot, the men and women quietly entered the mill gates, past a line of 12 pickets who said little but scrutinized the returning workers carefully.

Estimate 500 Cars Enter

National guard officers estimated that more than 300 automobiles, carrying from one to six men, entered the Corrigan-McKinney plant between 7 and 7:30 o'clock.

Alex Ballat, CIO organizer, said that only about 175 or 200 were steel workers. The others, he said, were executives and office workers.

Lieut. Col. E. Wilmer, in charge of the national guard, said conditions were quiet everywhere, and that workers were "streaming in."

A movement of state troops into Akron, Ohio's rubber center, roused speculation. Brig. Gen. Emil Mara, announcing that 500 soldiers were being sent there, said he had been informed there was a prospect of trouble at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant.

Goodrich officials, the mayor of Akron and L. L. Callahan, president of Goodrich local claiming 12,000 members, all denied knowledge of the reason for the ordering of troops.

March Attempt Recalled

It was recalled that earlier in the steel strike some rubber workers had attempted a march of sympathy into the Mahoning valley, and that they had been turned back by police. Some guardsmen expressed the opinion that troops were being concentrated there now as a precaution against any repetition of that march.

A big crowd, booing in chorus, massed on the rim of a bluff overlooking the Corrigan-McKinney plant, as several hundred automobile-loads of non-strikers rolled through the company gates.

A purely "family matter" within the union itself was given by some officials as a possible reason for the movement of troops to Akron. The union president there had planned, he said, to have "collectors" at the Goodrich gates today for the collection of union dues from delinquent members. The program, however, was cancelled, the union leader explaining that "other means will be used to influence members to keep dues paid up."

CIO rallied a police-estimated 1,500 workers at Cleveland last night. Speakers scoffed at Republic's claim that 85 per cent of the workers in its Cleveland mills were anxious to quit the strike.

REALTY TAX TOTAL UP TO $117,666

Real estate tax payments for the June collection have reached $117,666.25, County Treasurer Homer D. Cole said today. The total is still somewhat lower than last year's at a corresponding date. During the June collection of last year approximately $133,000 was collected. No closing date has been set for the current collection, which began on June 1.

HOUSE AT NEVADA HIT BY LIGHTNING

Mrs. Roy Starner Injured as Bolt Strikes Chimney of Dwelling.

Special to The Star

NEVADA, July 6—A bolt of lightning struck the Ray Starner residence here yesterday afternoon, destroying a chimney and injuring Mrs. Starner, who was sitting on the front porch.

Brick in the chimney were blown to fragments, wiring in the house was torn out and the fuses were twisted out of shape by the force of the bolt. Mrs. Starner was stunned and was in a nearly unconscious condition for two hours, although she was not believed to be seriously injured. She had been sitting in the porch swing. Telephone service in the Starner house and in several nearby residences was blown out for a short time.

The bolt struck about 2:30 p. m. during a 15-minute electrical storm. No rain fell until later in the evening, when there was a light shower. Damage to the Starner house is covered by insurance.

Trade Planes Land After Charting Atlantic Route

Clipper Reaches Ireland in 12 Hours, 40 Minutes; British Craft Crosses in 15 Hours, 9 Minutes.

By The Associated Press

Two mighty flying "ships that pass in the night" successfully charted a route for regular commercial flights between North America and Europe today.

The Pan American Clipper III landed at Foynes, Ireland, after a 1,960-mile survey hop from Botwood, Newfoundland, making the ocean jump in 12 hours and 40 minutes.

The British Imperial airways flying boat Caledonia completed the westward hop of 1,969 miles from Foynes to Botwood in 15 hours and nine minutes.

Neither passengers nor mail was carried.

The pioneering craft passed each other in the thinning darkness over the North Atlantic. The Caledonia landed at Botwood at 5:05 a. m. (Marion time). The Pan American Clipper alighted majestically on the River Shannon at Foynes at 4:50 a. m. (Marion time).

A brisk tail wind speeded the American plane, carrying Capt. Harold E. Gray and a crew of seven on the inaugural flight.

A large crowd, headed by President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State, greeted the Americans. Gray termed the flight a "pleasant, enjoyable trip." He added the worst part of the flight came when the plane encountered rain clouds upon approaching Ireland.

The 19-ton, four-engined Caledonia completed her hop ahead of schedule, in charge of Capt. A. S. Wilcockson and a crew of four. He had estimated the Caledonia would make the crossing in from 16 to 17 hours.

Spectators cheered loudly as the big plane dropped out of the skies to an easy landing. The plane will fly to Montreal Thursday and then on the Port Washington, N. Y., the last lap of the flight.

The Clipper's average speed was 156 miles an hour, the Caledonia's 132.

The twin surveys put Great Britain and the United States first in the field in this year's projected experimental flights over the North Atlantic by aviation interests of four nations. France and Germany are preparing for similar excursions.

OHIO TRAFFIC DEATHS INCREASE THIS YEAR

Higher in 65 Counties but Decrease is Shown in Marion County.

While Ohio traffic fatalities increased 35 per cent in 65 counties during the first six months of this year compared with the corresponding period of 1936, deaths in Marion county decreased, according to a survey completed today by The Associated Press. The survey discloses that 1,000 persons—one every four hours and 35 minutes, lost their lives in auto accidents.

The death toll for the first six months of 1936 in the 65 reporting counties was 746. In Marion county the toll to July 1 this year was six as compared with seven to the corresponding date of last year. Four of the deaths were motorcycle fatalities.

Cuyahoga, the state's most populous county, reported 150 deaths, compared with 115 for last year's first half. Forty-three of the reporting counties showed increases, five reported the same number as in 1936 and the remaining showed a decrease. In Athens county there were eight this year and none last year. All counties showing a decrease were classed as rural.

Death totals for nearby counties with the 1937 figures listed first in each instance are: Crawford, one and two; Delaware, three and eight; Hardin, not reported; Morrow, three and four; Marion, six and seven; Union, two and one; Wyandot not reported.

ROOSEVELT BACK AT WHITE HOUSE

By The Associated Press

ROBINSON LAUNCHES COURT BILL BATTLE

Tells Senate Judges Decline Mentally and Physically After Reaching 75.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 6—Democratic Leader Robinson, opening the fight for the administration's judicial reorganization bill, told the senate today that judges more than 75 years of age "usually are in a state of mental and physical decline."

As he spoke Sen. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, leader of the opposition to judiciary reorganization emerged from a long White House conference and said he was still opposed to any compromise which would add any justices to the supreme court.

Wheeler and Sen. Bone, Democrat of Washington, talked with the President for an hour and a half soon after the latter returned from Hyde Park, N. Y.

The Montanan declined to go into details, but did say the court bill was discussed. He added, however, the parliamentary situation in the senate, would not be affected by the talk.

Robinson began the senate debate after that chamber had agreed without a record vote to take the judiciary legislation up for consideration.

Robinson then moved to substitute for the original bill submitted by President Roosevelt, the compromise informally introduced last week. The substitute would provide for the appointment of new justices at the rate of one a year to supplement those serving past 75 years of age.

Before making this motion, the Arkansan had served notice he would use every means available

SMITH TAKES LEAD IN BRITISH TOURNEY

By The Associated Press

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 6—Carving out his second straight 69, Horton Smith of Chicago today took the lead in the 36-hole qualifying test for the British open golf championship with a total score 138, four strokes under par.

After setting a course record by clipping two strokes off Carnoustie's par yesterday, Smith carved as many off standard figures for the adjoining Burnside course in his second round.

His qualifying score was three strokes better than that of Gene Sarazen, veteran internationalist who tacked a par 71 for Carnoustie to his initial 70. Americans also held down the next two places.

METEOR FLASH MISTAKEN FOR FLIER'S SIGNAL

Search May Shift from Area North of Howland Island to Region Southward.

PUTNAM ASKS CHANGE

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, July 6—Hopes for the rescue of Amelia Earhart skyrocketed today, then suddenly fizzled out when the coast guard cutter Itasca reported it apparently had mistaken a meteor for flares from the round-the-world flier's plane.

Despite the severe disappointment the search continued today, with a prospect its center probably would shift from a point 280 miles north of Howland Island to the Phoenix Islands, an equal distance southward.

Hope of immediate rescue of Miss Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan, navigator of her $80,000 "flying laboratory," soared when the Itasca was overheard at 3:45 a. m., eastern standard time, radioing the plane:

"We can see your flares; are coming toward you."

Second Message Sent

Forty-five minutes later, came a second message:

"We see your flares. Go ahead."

Then came anti-climax when officers of the cutter reported the lookout might have mistaken heat flashes for a flare, and later, their decision it was "probably a meteor."

Tiny Howland Island, goal of Miss Earhart's 2,570-mile flight from British New Guinea last Friday also reported seeing the lights. Flares carried by the missing plane could not have been sighted by both.

The phantom lights were seen where a fragmentary radio message yesterday indicated the fliers, forced down by gasoline shortage, were drifting.

Miss Earhart's husband, George Palmer Putnam, however, was so firmly convinced the message was misinterpreted that the San Francisco coast guard radio sent out a message to searching ships of three nations southeast of Howland Island.

Can't Operate In Water

Putnam based his opinion on the inability of his wife's radio to operate when the plane is in the water. The Lockheed giant, builders of the plane, verified his opinion concerning the radio. Putnam has held privately to the belief she reached one of the tiny atolls which dot the equatorial Pacific. None of them is within 300 miles north of Howland.

Lieut. Frank Johnson, San Francisco coast guard communications officer, radioed the battleship Colorado, near the scene of Honolulu a suggestion that the warship send her three planes today to fly over the Phoenix Islands.

Officials here also began to share the belief that Miss Earhart, if alive, has found a temporary haven on some remote reef. They indicated the search would veer toward Phoenix.

Coast guardsmen, however, commented:

May Have New Device

"We can't overlook any bet. We must consider the possibility that Miss Earhart picked up new radio equipment somewhere on her flight, and also Noonan's known adaptability."

They suggested Noonan may have adapted the radio to work when the plane was on the water, possibly from spare batteries.

Their attitude indicated the Itasca, the navy mine sweeper Swan, and the British freighter Moorby might continue searching north of Howland.

"There is reason to believe," Putnam commented at the San Francisco coast guard station where he listened to reports, that some of the half-intelligible messages were actually from his wife.

It was "impossible" he said, for this to be correct if she were adrift at sea.

Believed In Phoenix Group

The San Francisco coast guard reported that a computation on the basis of a bearing taken from yesterday's radio signals by Pan American airways and Miss Earhart's last known message "give indication of her position in the Phoenix group."

Naval officers said they thought the Colorado would change her course to comply with this message.

They also hinted that when the United States aircraft carrier Lexington and an accompanying fleet of four destroyers join the search they will swing to the Phoenix group. This armada is enroute from San Diego, Calif., via Honolulu, where they will refuel.

American naval officers hazarded no guess as to what course the Japanese airplane carrier, Kamoi,

Ohio River Ferries Thrive Despite "No Toll" Bridges

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., July 6—Ferry boats have been chugging back and forth across the Ohio river since the white man began to supplant the Indian, and they are likely to go on chugging for a good many years.

Anyhow, almost simultaneously with Kentucky's acquisition of the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge at Cincinnati, Henry Kottmyer, operator of Anderson's ferry, less than eight miles downstream, prepared for bigger and better ferrying.

He slid a new all steel sidewheeler into the water to ply the 121-year-old ferry route between Cincinnati and Constance, Ky. The ferry has been in Kottmyer's family since the close of the war between the states and is considered one of the most profitable in the Cincinnati district.

The prospect of free bridges at Cincinnati seems of only slight concern to Kottmyer, who estimates that his steel-hulled boat will last about as long as the spans.

There are 20 ferries plying the Ohio river at points between Ashland, Ky., and Carrollton, Ky., and C. V. Thompson, statistical clerk for the U. S. engineers, estimated that last year they ferried approximately $192,316,100 worth of motor vehicles, besides $47,000 worth of buggies and wagons. The latter's tonnage was 119, while the truck tonnage was 255,726. They also shuttled 619,001 persons and $14,156,100 worth of merchandise across the river.

"There's little or no competition between bridges and ferries in this district," said the statistician. "Each serves a different community and purpose, except, of course, in Cincinnati.

Bridges never will replace ferries, because the ferries mostly serve small communities which could not afford to build bridges. After all, the local community must bear most of the burden of paying for a bridge."

Although there are 20 ferry routes listed at the engineer's office, not all resumed operations after the record January flood. Thompson said some were damaged and had not been replaced or the tiny communities served were practically obliterated by the inundation.

"Old Captain John, a valiant sidewheeler here during the flood, had to be replaced at Portsmouth, O.," he said. "The boat was left in a cornfield by the receding waters after having been used day and night in flood relief work."

Captain John's successor on the Portsmouth to Fullerton, Ky., shuttle route is the "Ironton."

Ferry boat rates and bridge tolls have a similar range—from 20 cents to 75 cents for autos and passengers on ferries and up to 50 cents for bridge tolls. Truck rates depend on load and size.

Three of the seven bridges in the district are owned by the Kentucky highway department and will become toll-free when their bonded indebtedness is retired. All the ferries are privately owned.

News Letter Tells of Harding Area's Boy Scout Activities in National Jamboree at Washington

This news letter from Harding Area Boy Scout Jamboree Troop No. 12, written to The Star by Ray Acker of Marion, first assistant scoutmaster of the troop, provides a word picture of the thrilling activities enjoyed by the group from Marion, Morrow, Crawford and Wyandot counties which make up the area. The letter comes from the camp of troop No. 12 in the great national jamboree where 27,000 Boy Scouts are assembled.

By RAY ACKER

Boy Scout Jamboree Camp, Washington D. C.—Our troop arrived safely in Washington and checked in at the registry on Tuesday morning. We made camp on Tuesday and were all ready for the Mt. Vernon boat trip Wednesday morning. We left camp about 8:30 in charge of Dr. E. H. Chapman, our scoutmaster and marched about two miles from our camp site where we were taken on board the City of Washington, a three deck excursion boat. We were given small booklets which gave an historic account of all the points of interest along the Potomac on the trip to and from Mt. Vernon.

Guides took each troop through all the grounds and buildings after we landed at Mt. Vernon. The last place above all before boarding the boat for our return trip was the last resting place of the Father of our Country. It was very impressive to see every scout come to attention and salute. We returned to camp for a rather late dinner which was eaten hurriedly in order to catch the buses waiting for use to take us to the ball game in the afternoon.

It is hard to picture this great camp of boys and it is almost unbelievable unless one actually sees it. There are nearly 27,000 boys and leaders camped here and a good many hundreds are taking advantage of the excursion trips.

Nearly every boy in our troop went to the ball game on Wednesday afternoon.

Thursday found our troop preparing for our big pageant display at the arena at the foot of the Washington monument. Over 6,000 scouts took part in the different displays.

Our troop participated in the signaling and flint and steel fire displays. John Geyer, the smallest boy in our troop (he is a member of Troop 27 of Mt. Gilead, O., was the first to strike fire and Harold Fralich, also a member of our Jamboree Troop and a member of Troop 4 of Marion was second. There were over 600 boys in this event, so their's is an enviable record. As each event was put on the field was clear of the boys in the preceding event in six seconds. Towers erected in each corner of the arena house a corp of workers that control the flood and spot lights, timers, etc. Signals are given for entry and exit by different colored lights.

The arena, seating more than 20,000 people, faces the Washington monument at the base of which the scouts who do not participate in the events are assembled to witness the show.

The Jamboree as a whole is a huge success and is almost impossible to picture in words. Boys are here from all over the world. The boys in our troop have been very successful in their "gadget" swapping. Every boy made different kinds of gadgets to swap with boys from other troops from different parts of this country or some foreign country. Ray Young of our troop only brought one gadget to swap but has made several swaps already and will come home with a goodly number of items.

Friday morning I was detailed to take the troop to visit Arlington cemetery. We arrived at the cemetery at 9:15 a. m. where I registered for 28 boys. We were assigned two boys, Chester Waldron of Troop 119 Arlington, Va., and Jack Boston of Troop 104, Arlington, to act as guides for our troop. Our boys delighted in listening to those boys tell us about the different points of interest in their southern accent.

Of course we didn't have the time to go over the full 500 acres but we did see the grave of William Jennings Bryan, and the spot where the body of Admiral Dewey rested until relatives recently moved the body.

The asphalt roads, wonderfully smooth, led us up and around the hills where we halted to witness a military funeral. We could not learn the name of the deceased person but the guides told us it was some high army officer because the military band of the Fort Myer army post which is encamped in the cemetery was playing at the grave. Only the bugler attends the burial of an enlisted man.

After taps was sounded we proceeded on to the grave of Admiral Perry and the Argonne Cross which separates the World war veterans' plot from the Spanish-American war veterans' plot.

We saw the grave of Floyd Bennett, the renowned flier, which lies directly across from old Fort McPherson, which is today exactly as it was during Civil war days.

Richard Acker, the senior patrol leader of our troop, snapped some good photos.

Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders were in the next plot, then on to the Maine Memorial. The mast of the Maine is erected on the top of a parapet, which is hollow inside. The door to the entrance is a steel door taken from the Maine.

We then visited the amphitheater where the whole troop lined up in front of the Unknown Soldier's tomb and stood at attention for six seconds and saluted. There is a soldier guard walking post in front of this tomb at all times.

We then visited Gen. Lee's mansion. Ed. Watters Jr. lagged behind going up the hill to the mansion but finally overtook us. The boys all had time to take pictures of all interesting places and will have many things to remember from this trip. We returned to camp and dinner at 12:30 p. m.

The boys under Karl Bechtle, our second assistant scoutmaster, are visiting the Capitol building this p. m.

Our food is all prepared at a section kitchen and brought to our own dining tent by a detail of our own boys and the food is excellent. A trading post and post-office are directly across from our camp site.

A hike or an excursion is scheduled for every day of the remaining period.

Our camp entrance and the Patrol Emblems display in the front of our camp have drawn very favorable comment from visitors and scouts alike.

The only medical attention our troop has needed were not paid for. Jack Phillips of Troop 27, Mt. Gilead, who developed a charley horse climbing the steps in the Washington monument and a bandage for my left thumb. Every one is well and having a good time.

Last Month's Downpours Set 35-Year June Record

No June for 35 years—not since 1902—has brought more rain in Marion than last month's total, records of Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, government weather observer here, showed today.

June, 1902, will long be remembered, not only for setting a 35-year record, but for two electrical storms which flooded rivers and creeks in Marion and central Ohio causing untold damage to crops.

The month's total rainfall was just over seven inches, (6.99 inches plus traces of rain that fell on June 27 and 28). Nearly half of the total fell during the two storms, 1.55 inches falling in the first storm on June 21 and 1.60 on June 25.

Nearly All Time High

The total nearly equals the 1902 record of 7.17 inches the highest June rainfall on record here. In addition, last month's rainfall far exceeds most other years in the period since 1902, being most nearly approached by 6.48 inches in June, 1909, 5.31 inches in June 1916 and 5.28 inches in June, 1912. Average June rainfall through the years has been 4.01 inches.

Some kind of a record could hardly be avoided last month since 16 of June's 30 days were rainy and only four days were clear, the others being cloudy or partly cloudy.

June was not lavish with balmy days either, the mercury hitting 90 only twice, while on three occasions it fell to between 51 and 55 and twice to 47 degrees. However, temperatures of more than 80 degrees were registered on 19 days, helping the monthly average to exceed slightly the average of 69.5 degrees set up in past year. Last month's average was 70.2 degrees.

Not So Hot

The maximum readings of 90 degrees last month are far below the highs of other years, such as 1911's 100 degree mark, a 99-degree mark in 1899 and 95 in 1914.

In tumbling to 47 degrees on two nights last month, the mercury nearly equaled a low mark of 42 degrees in 1917, but did not approach a record low of 35, set in 1902, a 36 in 1910 and a 37 in 1901.

But we can and do aid families to arrange a satisfactory burial at a price they can afford to pay. Even a less expensive funeral entrusted to this organization can be made dignified and satisfactory.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Finally Agrees to Give Lillian a Copy of Edith Fairfax's Letter.

"I—I—DON'T think I ought to let that letter go out of my possession," I said weakly when Lillian asked if I would give Edith Fairfax's letter to her if she promised not to show it to Dicky or tell him anything that was in it.

"You don't need to," she said quickly. "You have a portable typewriter with you, haven't you?"

"Yes, right here."

"And I can still 'pick corn' with two fingers with fair rapidity. I'll just copy the thing, for my own reference, and leave the original with you."

I wrestled with temptation, but before I could voice another weak objection, she attacked my defenses from another angle.

"I'll even throw another sop to your Puritan conscience," she said. "You copy the thing yourself, assuring me on your honor that you haven't omitted a comma. Then you can swear on a stack of seven Bibles that you didn't show the letter to a single soul."

I could not keep back a wry smile at her reasoning.

"You mean a sop to Machiavelli, not to my conscience," I told her.

She rose suddenly and towered over me, her eyes flashing and the lines around her mouth and eyes deeply etched, infallible signs of strong emotional feeling with her.

"Look here, little one!" she adjured me. "I'm not going to waste either your time or mine on this thing any longer. You're about as able to deal with the hyena as Faith would be. You have too many darned scruples, and she has less than none.

"Now, you either give me a copy of that letter, or I'll go straight to Dicky—remember, I made you no promise not to tell him things before I offered that conditional promise to you—and I'll tell him everything you've told me so far from that letter, and what I surmise about it, which is plenty. If you'll let me have the copy, I repeat I won't relay a word of it to him. I know that I'm blackmailing you, but by the Lord Harry! It's justifiable blackmail. Somebody's got to take care of you, and I guess I'm the one elected."

She was inexorable. I saw that. I also knew that she never would have threatened to betray the tacit confidence I had given her had she not believed some insidious peril to me warranted her drastic and questionable action. But her ultimatum left me no choice. I could not risk Dicky's learning any of the contents of the letter.

There was something else to be considered also, something on which I was sure Lillian had shrewdly counted. If she spoke to Dicky about the letter, he would know that I had told her things which I had not confided to him. That he would strongly resent—and justifiably—my giving a confidence to anyone which I had denied him, I was certain. The knowledge was the last impetus needed for my surrender.

"All right," I said with a sigh compounded equally—I was compelled to admit—of reluctance and relief. "I'll copy the letter and turn it over to you."

Characteristically, she gave no word of thanks, simply said briskly, "No time like the present. You are a fast typist, and we don't care how many type errors you make. If you'll get at it right away and slam it out, I'll read each page as it comes through. If you'll camouflage it with some sheets of manuscript paper, the girls won't suspect a thing, even if they get through primping before you finish, which I doubt.

"Suppose Dicky comes over while I'm typing it," I said nervously.

"Don't be an anointed idiot because you know how," she quoted. "Use your alleged brain. Harry and the Dicky-bird haven't seen each other in weeks. We'll have to pry their conversation apart with a crowbar. There's about as much chance of your husband's coming to call on you for the next hour as there would be of our receiving a visit from the defunct and lamented prophet, Jonah, accompanied by the whole Get busy with that letter!"

SURRENDERING incontinently to Lillian's demand, I "got busy" with Edith Fairfax's letter, sliding it between sheets of manuscript paper so that Marion and Carolyn taking a casual glance at me, would think I was copying some part of my play.

As I finished each page, I handed it to Lillian. I worked feverishly because of my fear that Dicky might come over to the joint camp and discover what I was doing, and it took but a few minutes to complete the copying.

I had been working too swiftly to look at Lillian. When I finished, I hastened to lock away the letter in the tiny strong box I always carry in my suitcase for valuables. I then put away the typewriter. When I returned to my friend's side, it was to see her with blazing eyes, high spots of color on either cheek and fingers tightly clenched into her palms.

"If I only had that—that—weasel—here for two minutes!" she said. "I'd give her something to hasten that end she's predicting so freely. And if any jury could have the facts, they not only would call it justifiable homicide, but pin a Croix due Guerre upon my chest."

"Then you don't think she's in danger of dying?" I quavered.

"No more than any human being—unless she croaks from pure cussedness. I'll admit there's a chance of that. But, speaking normally, she's likely to outlive both of us, worse luck! I'd like to dance a hornpipe on her planting plot if she should sign off before me."

Lillian Is Angry

"Lillian! Lillian! Don't," I adjured her, caught between horrified disapproval and helpless laughter.

"Why not?" she countered coolly. "What else has been her cherished ambition for years but dancing on your grave or that of your happiness? You know as well as I do that if she could have managed it, she would have taken Dicky away from you years ago. But Barkis has never been willing, and she's a soured, discontented, malevolent woman, who will stop at nothing to hurt you."

She brushed a hand across her face as if she were thrusting aside cobwebs.

"I'd like to know just what particular brain storm she's having now," she said "but I'll soon find out when she gets here. In the meantime you leave this whole mess in my lap. I'll deal with that baby myself."

"But—but," I faltered, "she expects me to wire her 'yes' or 'no.'"

She raised an imaginary lorgnette to her eyes, and looked me over from head to foot with an ironical smile.

"And, I suppose, there is some law compelling you to fulfill her expectations?" she asked, then hurried on vehemently: "Why! you anointed imbecile, if you dare to let her put that over on you, I'll never speak to her again."

"You mean I'm not to wire her at all?" I asked.

"Nary a word," she returned promptly. "You'll not obey an impudent demand like that while I have any breath left in my body. But she'll have a telegram all right. I'm going to write her one that will send her into a fit of the jitters because she won't know what to think of it. Would you like to know what I'm going to tell her?"

She cocked a saucy eyebrow at me, and I choked out a tense, "Please."

"I'm going to say, Madge too busy to cope with your problem. I have taken it over. Undecided as yet what answer to give your request. Come to New York as you planned, and we will thresh it out. Warn you that any mention of this telegram, or my part in affair to other interested party will mean instant and final rejection of your request. There! How does that message strike you?"

TOWN MEETINGS ON VACATION PROGRAM

America's town meeting of the air, which generally goes on a vacation all summer, is interrupting its plan this summer to present three special programs. The first comes Thursday night at 9 p. m. over WJZ-NBC when Sen. Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and Clark R. Eichelberger, president of the League of Nations association discuss "Can America Remain Neutral?"

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER ACCIDENT

A 70-year-old Akron woman is in the City hospital today, two other persons were treated for injuries and released and a charge of reckless driving was filed against a Hammond, Ind., man as the result of a two-car sideswipe collision, last night at 7 o'clock on route 30-S, five miles east of Caledonia, highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station reported.

Mrs. Elverta Fiber, 70, suffered a fractured rib, chest injuries and is in the City hospital today. The attending physician reported that her condition is not "serious." Mrs. Margaret Poole, 29, of Hammond, Ind., suffered body and leg bruises, and Harold Huffman, 12, of Akron, suffered bruises both were treated and released.

Walter F. 563 HOLIDAY DEATHS SET NEW RECORD

By The Associated Press

A total of 563 men, women and children met violent death in the two-day celebration of the nation's 161st birthday.

The toll was believed the highest in the history of America's observance of Independence day.

Only four deaths were attributed directly to fireworks. Traffic accidents constituted the biggest single cause. A total of 310 persons were fatally injured on streets and highways.

There were 112 drownings Sunday and Monday. During the same period 107 persons died violently in other ways.

The four fireworks deaths compared with 11 last year. This year's victims were three children and a man. Geraldine Mulvey, 5, Woonsocket, R. I., and Julia Friess, 9, Baltimore, Md. suffered fatal burns when their dresses were ignited by sparklers. Eloise Hope Burton, 4, bought a penny box of matches to ignite fireworks at Price, Utah. Neighbors found her fatally burned in her yard. Howard C. Marsh, 45, Boxboro, Mass. Howard C. Marsh, 18, Boxboro, Mass., was fatally injured while tampering powder into a home-made cannon.

Although few died in handling fireworks hundreds suffered burns and minor injuries. The total in metropolitan New York alone was 515, Chicago listed 115.

Among the states New York had the largest number of fatalities from all causes—39. Michigan was next with 36 and California third with 34. Pennsylvania had 28, Ohio 25, Texas and Missouri 21 each.

Vermont was low with only one death from violence.

Ideal weather in most sections of the nation drew motorists to the highways by ten of thousands. The toll of 310 traffic deaths was the largest in more than a decade, comparing with 228 during the celebration of Independence day a year ago and 54 ten years ago.

Wyoming alone recorded no traffic fatalities.

Michigan registered the highest number of drownings, 15. There were 11 victims in New York and 10 in Massachusetts. The nation's 142 drownings represented the largest number since the 1931 celebration when 181 deaths were ascribed to that cause.

Airplane accidents caused three deaths. A parachute jumper was killed in Iowa. Shootings by celebrants and industrial mishaps were other causes which accounted for the 195 fatalities not attributed to fireworks, traffic accidents or drowning.

25 HOLIDAY DEATHS RECORDED IN OHIO

By The Associated Press

Ohio counted its toll of weekend holiday dead at at least 25 today, although the escape of five persons from a boat blast at Toledo, with minor injury to only two, provided the most spectacular item on a record marked by absence of fatality due to fireworks.

Only a short time before the five had been rescued from another craft which was aground for 19 hours in Maumee bay.

Although 13 were killed in traffic accidents, four drowned and one burned to death in the Saturday-Sunday period, only six additional deaths were reported over the state on the final day of the July 5 celebration.

They were:

Mrs. Dora Hopkins, 53, victim of a hit-skip driver near Columbus; Dan Seeger, of New Springfield, whose truck was hit by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train near Pine Lake; Mildred Zatezalo, 19, killed in Bellaire when struck by an auto; J. Hobos Hugo, of Batavia, whose motorcycle struck a culvert near that Clermont county seat, Leonard Ater, 19, of Columbus, drowned when his rowboat upset in Buckeye lake, and Mrs. Charlotte Sloeter, 65, of New Carlisle, whose husband, Joseph, 73, also was hurt seriously in a collision of automobiles near Dayton.

In addition, the death of Carlos Myers eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Myers of Akron, was attributed to gasoline fumes, which he breathed from the tank of an automobile.

Marjorie Fries, 18, of Toledo and Frank Palmer, 20, of Detroit, were recovering from minor burns received in the Toledo boat blast.

The cruiser Silo Jo, on which they had been week-end guests with others, was enroute from Turtle Island when she ran aground near Crib light in Maumee bay. Rescue of the craft and those aboard was effected by two U. S. coast guard vessels.

Atha's car struck Evans' automobile at the left rear fender, as the lead automobile halted for the cow, patrolmen reported. Atha's automobile was badly damaged about the front and side. Yost and three others with him were not injured.

SEVEN INJURED AS AUTOS CRASH

Seven persons were injured and an abandoned school building damaged yesterday afternoon in an automobile collision about four and a half miles west of Morral at the intersection of the Meeker-Upper Sandusky and Morral-Kirkpatrick roads. Four of the six are in hospitals here and at Bucyrus.

The four are Mrs. Bertha DeVore, 32, of Toledo, possible shoulder fracture, possible chest injuries and body bruises, and Joe Stark Crane, 26, of Agosta, shock and bruises, both at City hospital; John A. Cronels, 61, of Bucyrus, lacerations and Mrs. Mary Cronels, 58, cuts and abrasions, both in Bucyrus hospital.

Lee H. DeVore, 41, husband of the injured woman, suffered minor cuts about the face. Two of the DeVore children, Joan, 8, and Ronnie, 4, each suffered laceration, while a third, Charles, 13, was uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cronels were taken to Bucyrus by a passing motorist, and Harry Hall, a farmer living near the scene of the accident, took Mrs. DeVore and Mr. Crane to the Marion hospital. None was in serious condition this noon according to hospital attendants.

The accident occurred about 3:30 p. m. yesterday as the DeVore car, driven by Mr. DeVore, was headed north on the Meeker road and the Cronels car, driven by Mr. Cronels, was going west on the Morral road. Sheriff Fred Miller and state highway patrolmen from the Marion substation, called to investigate, said the accident resulted from the blocking of the vision of the drivers by a high hedge growing along the road.

The collision was nearly head-on, according to the patrolmen. The DeVore car was upset and rolled over several times hopping over a ditch, and stopping only after it crashed into the building on the northwest corner of the intersection. It was still on its top when it halted. Mrs. DeVore and Mr. Crane were more seriously injured because they were sitting on the side of the car which crashed against the building. Sheriff Miller said. The building is 150 feet from the crossing.

The front of the frame building was caved in and a separator stored near the front of the building was knocked over. The building is now used as a barn.

The Cronels car, originally headed west, plunged into the ditch on the west side of the road and was pointed north, Sheriff Miller said. Mr. Cronels was apparently thrown from his car to a point near where the DeVore car stopped, the sheriff said.

Both cars were taken to the Lautenslager garage here. They were virtually demolished.

The DeVores, former residents of Agosta, were visiting with relatives there and had started back to Toledo when the accident occurred.

METEOR MISTAKEN FOR AMELIA'S FLASH

speeding from the South Pacific to join the hunt, would pursue.

Frantic, sputtering words heard at 7:12 a. m. by three radio operators at the Wailupe Naval Station, came from between crackling bursts of equatorial static.

"281 north Howland . . . call KHAQQ (the call letters of the Earhart plane) . . . beyond north . . . don't hold with us much longer . . . above water . . . shut off."

Sinking Feared

From this message came widely varying interpretations. A Pearl Harbor lieutenant suggested it meant the plane was sinking; the coast guard said it might mean radio transmission from the ship was being "shut off" by failing batteries.

Putnam said in Oakland he believed the words "above water," indicated certainly the plane had landed on a reef, that the gasoline required to turn the right motor to provide radio transmission, was being exhausted.

"Help is on the way. Signals have been heard," was the message hurled into the air at frequent intervals by commercial stations here as Putnam sought to reassure his wife.

Radio Directions Agree

The coast guard here messaged Washington, D. C. that independent bearings appeared to agree with the garbled transmission from the plane, that Miss Earhart and Noonan were approximately 281 miles north of Howland.

Probability was lent the "281 north Howland" report by the fact that the freighter Moorby, itself north of Howland Island, reported at 6:30 a. m. it had heard a strong continuous carrier wave on the Earhart frequency.

The Moorby was believed only 90 miles from the objective. The navy mine sweeper Swan, 200 miles away, likewise was proceeding under forced draft. The 250-foot, gleaming white Itasca, a heavy smoke attesting its speed, was bettering 15 knots and expected to arrive at the position at 11:30 p. m.

Howland Island, a bare dot of land, was the goal of Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred J. Noonan, on a flight from Lae, New Guinea. Short of fuel, harassed by headwinds, they were cut down in their flight.

Searchlights Pierce Sky

For three days without pause the Itasca has searched the waters east and west of Howland Islands to the north. Great smoke beacons have been sent up by day and searchlights lashed the skies at night, signals for the missing fliers.

On every ship and in every shore station a constant watch was kept for signals from the Earhart plane. The ceaseless vigil brought small reward in definite information, but endless rumors came from amateur listeners over half the world.

Paul Mantz, technical advisor to Miss Earhart, said three long dashes, as requested by the Pan-American station at Honolulu, had been heard by him in Los Angeles at 5 a. m. (Pacific standard time).

Encouragement Felt

In support of a Pan-American Airways suggestion, based on bearings from the faint signals, that the plane may be in the Phoenix Island group, the coast guard at San Francisco suggested the state department request British co-operation in an examination of uninhabited parts of the islands, but it was decided to wait for word of the Itasca's new quest.

Searchers reported they were heartened by what appeared to be wireless replies to instructional broadcasts sent the missing fliers by Station KGMB at Honolulu. The faint signals were intercepted by the navy, coast guard, and Pan-American stations at Honolulu and by the coast guard at San Francisco.

AIR THRILL SHOW DRAWS BIG JULY 4 CROWD HERE

Hazardous Stunts Make Up Airport Program at War Veterans' Benefit.

Approximately 3,500 persons crowded the municipal airport Sunday afternoon for the European Air Circus and Thrill Show sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Pilots and daredevils on the ground staged nearly a dozen hazardous acts but no injuries occurred during the entire three and a half hour show.

The show, managed by William Kuhn of Upper Sandusky, got under way about 2:15 despite rains in the morning and threatening skies. First came a diving act with a plane swooping down to within a few feet of the ground and breaking a ribbon, releasing an American flag.

Next a young woman was placed in a casket on the field, the casket covered with gasoline soaked material and set on fire. Hypnotized, she escaped injury.

Stunt planes then darted through the air cutting long ribbons into as many pieces as possible before they fell to the ground. The children received a treat in a free-for-all balloon fight on the flying field to last: child to have a balloon winning a prize.

Stunt flying by two Toledo pilots was next on the list. Department of Commerce restrictions prevented the more spectacular stunts originally planned.

Chuck Briggs of Bucyrus provided the next thrill by crashing an automobile headlong through a board wall. Appropriate for the Fourth of July was the aerial bombardment of a miniature fortress with several dynamite bombs. The building especially constructed for the act was virtually demolished.

Mr. Kuhn himself gave the last act. Flown to about 3,000 feet by Harold Cobb, manager of the airport, Mr. Kuhn made a parachute jump, landing on the field. Prior to making the jump himself, Kuhn threw overboard one of his inventions, Wun Long Hop, the mechanical jumper. The mechanical man fell to within about 600 feet of the earth before the ripcord automatically released.

The veterans' group sponsored the show to raise funds for establishing new quarters. Charles D. Fuller was general chairman. Assisting were Samuel Roth, tickets, Harry Baker, concessions, Samuel Van Voorhees, parking, Roy Miller and John V. Ruth.

CHURCHES OPEN UNION SERVICES

Rev. L. A. Wood Preaches at Joint Worship at St. Paul's Lutheran.

A capacity audience attended the first of the summer's union church services, held Sunday evening at St. Paul's English Lutheran church. A sermon, "Turning Points in Life," by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, and the Lutheran vesper service, presented by Rev. E. A. Lehman, pastor of St. Paul's, and the church choir, featured the service.

Rev. Wood based his sermon on a text from Exodus 3:4, "And when the Lord saw that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the midst of the bush and said, Moses, Moses. And he said, Here am I."

The sermon, in part, follows:

"There are days when far reaching decision are made. Such days come unexpectedly. Moses was leading his flock when God spoke to him from a burning bush. Today young people are going about their summer work. To many of these God will speak, calling them to complete their education and training for life work. Our prayer is that they may know the day of their decision and respond to God's call. God still speaks to those who are hushed to hear.

"God gave Moses a commission, which I have heard; I will send them. God gave Moses assurance when he prompted his presence, 'Certainly I will be with thee.' To every young person today whom God is calling there is given the same word of confidence, 'I will be with you.' Happy are those who know the day when major decisions are being made and willing respond, 'Here am I. Send by whom you will send.'"

The second union service will be held next Sunday evening at the Prospect Street M. E. church, with Rev. Lehman of St. Paul's church giving the sermon.

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN FOR CHILDREN TODAY

Tag Day Nets $138 for Purchase of Equipment. Workers Report.

The playground season for younger Marionites opened today as activity began at three parks, Lincoln, McKinley and the Marion Steam Shovel Athletic field, under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. and members of the WPA and NYA staffs.

Proceeds of the tag day held Saturday, when young women leaders sold tags in the business district, amounted to $138, officials reported today. The funds will be used entirely for the purchase of handicraft supplies and playground equipment. Clarence Lenz, boys' work secretary at the Y, who is in charge of the playground program, said.

The playgrounds will be operated each week, Monday through Friday, until school begins in September, according to present plans. The hours will be from 9 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at each of the parks.

PENSION SUIT HEARINGS SET

Two Marion Cases Will Be Before Court of Appeals in Lima Wednesday.

The second round of litigation over the question of the legality of city councils abolition of the police and firemen's pension systems is to come to a head Wednesday when the Third district court of appeals is to review two test cases in Lima. The city won both cases in common pleas court trials.

One is the suit filed by James W. Thompson, former police chief, against the city on the police pension test and the other is the action of Hilbert D. Uline, retired fire captain, a test for the firemen's pensions.

Attorneys today said the proceedings before the three-judge court of appeals probably will be confined to arguments of attorneys over the law applicable to the case. Testimony taken in the common pleas court trials of the cases will be reviewed, and no new testimony will be taken, attorneys said.

The appellate court is not expected to give an immediate decision but to take the case under advisement.

W. P. Moloney is counsel for Mr. Thompson, Grant E. Mouser Jr. for Mr. Uline and City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart is counsel for the city.

Meanwhile, the appellate court today was to hear arguments of attorneys in the cases of five Marion men seeking pay allegedly due them for work done as high school vocational students in the O-zonol Co. plant. They seek a total of 1,600. W. Dexter Haren is counsel for the former students. Timothy Caldwell, Charles G. Drippe, Arnold Finacal, Harry Wick and Malcolm Severns. Ralph E. Carhart represents the city board of education and Ben T. Want the O-zonol co.

Also booked for review today in the appellate court are nine school damage suits seeking more than $715,000, appealed by Dr. T. H. Sutherland and Paul D. Smith, representing the plaintiffs, following common pleas court rulings against them.

to break any filibuster and to force a vote.

Without waiting for a vote on his motion to substitute the compromise bill, Robinson explained the measure to the senate.

He said he and others participating in the drafting of the compromise "had in mind the criticism directed in public addresses and news magazine articles against the original bill."

He acknowledged there had been "a great diversity of opinion" not only among opponents of any court legislation, but among those who felt that conditions "justify, if they do not demand," change in the judicial organization.

Then, after outlining the substitute in brief before crowded galleries and a well filled senate chamber Robinson launched into his argument.

"It is not contended," he said, "that judges lose their reasoning powers at 75, but those who have passed beyond 75 usually are in a state of mental and physical decline.

"Our statutes have recognized the wisdom and the necessity for judges who have the physical vigor to perform the tasks that are assigned to them."

3,000 See Horse Pulling Contest At Fairgrounds

Nineteen Teams from Ohio and Indiana Take Part in July 4 Programs; National Champs Beaten.

Three thousand persons witnessed Marion's second annual horse pulling contest at the fairgrounds Sunday in a July 4 program that was the fifth of a series of such contests in Ohio this year.

Nineteen teams from Ohio and Indiana took part in the competition, giving the crowd a three-hour program of spectacular competition of draft horse teams matching their strength in pulling the dead weight of a sled loaded with concrete blocks.

The results of the competition were of more than passing interest to the owners and drivers of teams that have been competing in the series of contests staged in the last two years by the Ohio Horse Pulling association, headed by Ray Hennessy of Bellefontaine. This is because Queen and Jim, recorded the title of national champions in the lightweight division for their prowess last year and this year, were set down for the first time in two seasons.

The champs owned by John A Day of Springport, Ind., were relegated to third place in the contest for their first defeat in five starts this year. They were outpulled by Dick and Prince, owned by Byrllat Moyer of Greens Fork, Ind., who dragged a 5,000-pound sled load 27.5 feet to win first prize in the lightweight division. Jim and Nip, owned by Earle Vincent Jr. of New Holland, O., finished second by dragging 5,000 pounds 26 feet and 10 inches, losing the contest by a margin of only eight inches. The champs were third with a 5,000 pound pull over a distance of 25 feet seven inches.

Heavyweight Division

In the heavyweight division in which heavier horses tackled heavier loads, Tom and Barney, owned by the Gamboa Ford Motor sales of Pioneer, O., walked away with first honors by pulling a 6,000 pound load 25 feet four inches. Nine inches short of this mark with the same load were Doc and Flora owned by Simmons & Kiehl of Versailles, O., winners of second money. In third place were George and Joe, owned by B. L. Kuhnsman of Bradford, O., who tugged the 6,000 pound load only 16 feet six inches.

In addition to the winners of first, second and third money, entrants in the heavyweight contest follow. King and Jim owned by Dr. William Crall of Pioneer, O., Dick and Rudy owned by Basil Nawonger of Greenville, O. Dick and Buster owned by Charles Iffeffer of Green Springs, O., Ben and Pete owned by Albert Tavenner of Bowling Green, O., Prince and Duke owned by Brough and Ulmer of Elva Green, Ind.

Lightweight contenders, in addition to the three teams that placed first, second or third, were King and Jill owned by Clyde F. Wilson of Galion, O., King and Bob owned by R. J. Emery of West Alexandria, O., King and Dewey also owned by Mr. Emery, Ted and Fred owned by George Dix of Delaware, O., Dick and Topsy owned by Corwin Brothers of Bellefontaine, Tom and Duke owned by Merle Ulliner of Elva Green, Ind.

Still Hold Title

Queen and Jim, although they did not lose their national championship in the lightweight division here yesterday, suffered loss of prestige by the defeat. The team won the undisputed national title by winning a contest at Hillsdale, Mich., last September in which competition was conducted with teams pulling against a recording machine and also by winning in national competition at Troy last Oct. 3 in which the horses pulled a loaded sled.

The horse pulling contests are conducted in tournament style, each team taking its turn at the loaded sled. To win the right to pull a heavier load, the team must pull the starting load 27 feet six inches. The load is increased 500 pounds at a time, and the horses are scored according to the distance they pull and the weight they pull. The prize money yesterday totaled $325.

Hennessy, No 1 promoter of horse pulling contests in this part of the country, is enthusiastic in his promotion of the events and hopes eventually to land a national contest in Madison Square Gardens in New York City. The contests gain much of their popularity from the spectacle that both the teams and their drivers present during competition. The horses lean forward until their bodies tear out pieces of earth the size of a man's hat as they pull. Harness groans as tugs are strained to almost the breaking point. The drivers, most of them having a flare for showmanship, encourage their horses by shouting, slapping their thighs and like to engage the judges in arguments over the results. Interest runs high in the crowd, which joins the drivers in cheering the horses to pull harder. The heats are invariably followed by applause.

Hennessey will bring a different show to Marion when he returns next September for the Marion county fair. As a Wednesday fair feature he has arranged a junior contest for Ohio and Indiana, limiting the drivers to boys and girls. It is expected many teams that have been competing regularly in contests throughout Ohio this year will return to Marion with boy and girl drivers for the day. A number of teams from this vicinity are expected to compete.

PARADE FEATURES FETE AT CALEDONIA

Awards Made for Floats in Third Annual Independence Day Event.

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, July 6—A patriotic float entered by the ladies auxiliary, unit 401 of the Caledonia American Legion post, won first prize in the Fourth of July parade here yesterday. The parade was the third annual event sponsored by merchants of Caledonia and vicinity and was the largest yet held.

The Legion auxiliary float depicted historical events from the signing of the Declaration of Independence to the present. Members of the auxiliary were assisted by Legionnaires in preparing the float. Other float prize winners were the Garber sisters, second, and Mac's hardware store, third. Mrs. Roy Garver and Miss Ila Rice won a prize for entering the worst-appearing horse and buggy and the award for the best pony went to Miss Jerry Timson.

Saddle horse awards went to John Brown, first, Charles Likens, second and Mrs. John Brown, third. Sherman Coulter won the clown prize. The parade was followed by games, contests and roller skating. Dinner, contests and fireworks on the school grounds made up the evening program.

John Brown was in charge of the parade and John Iden in charge of the afternoon games. Mr. Iden and Mrs. John Jelliffe conducted the games and dancing last night.

FARMERS

Milk Producers - Distributors

of Marion and adjoining counties, who are opposed to the U. S. milk code adopted by the Marion and other county health boards.

Meeting at Claridon school house, WEDNESDAY, JULY 7, 8:30 P. M. to organize to have this code abolished.

This milk code would raise the price of milk and cut down consumption. And milk, being one of the absolute essentials for the nourishment of babies and children, many of whom are already undernourished because of lack of money to buy them milk, this code would become a health menace, not a health producing measure.

The benefit of the rise in price would not go to the farmers but to the bureaucrats and politicians mainly, to milk equipment houses and to the milk monopolists.

Primary purpose of milk code is not to produce better milk, as this is now of high quality and in every way satisfactory to consumers. There is no demand whatever for this code from consumers.

All this demand comes from political bureaucrats who want to promote their own selfish interests, promoters for the sale of milk equipment, and from selfish and greedy producers and distributors who want a monopoly of the milk business.

This code would put a heavy, unnecessary and unjust financial burden on farmers. It would ruin the little fellow. It would keep all but those with a more plentiful supply of money from starting in the milk business.

This code gives wide arbitrary powers to the bureaucrats and politicians running it, and they could drive most anybody out of the milk business that their whims and self interest might dictate.

It is high time the farmers put a stop to all this political rape and regimentation that is growing upon them and assert in no uncertain way their intention to be masters of their own hard earned property and to enjoy the fruits of their own labor.

All who are opposed to this vicious milk code (and those only) are invited to the Claridon school house,

BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE INCURABLE "STEPPER-OUTER"

This is the magic time of year when men with roving eyes and fickle hearts begin to think of themselves as Casanovas and to emulate that gentleman by trying out a new love interest.

It is also the time when the heart problem editor is crowded under with letters of the "do you think he'll love me" and the "how can I win him back" variety from anxious wives and sobbing sweethearts.

Any heart problem columnist who could discover or invent an infallible cure for the wandering foot and the fickle heart could make enough money to keep her in Polo Royces for the rest of her days But alas there is no cure for a wobbly heart or a love that has gone sour There is no miracle which will change a flirtatious lover or a philandering husband into a one-woman man

Some men are born rovers emotionally unstable — just as some children are born with double-jointed or extra toes sticking out. You know the type They could no more be true to an archangel Eve than always love one woman which makes them stray away sometimes it is just love of adventure novelty and a new conquest They were born with restless hearts and an itch in the trigger finger to say nothing of a hungry vanity and no one woman can satisfy all these

The natural born philanderer can no more be cured of his weakness for women than a cat can be cured of its weakness for cream or a puppy of a passion for old shoes No even old age and rheumatism can keep him from limping after every girl with a come hither smile

Other men have a change of heart because they are tired of a woman I see or they are bored or nagged or because her jealousy has put a strain on their nerves Or vice versa because they have lost their taste for her If there were not another woman in the world and all the clubs and bars were closed they would sneak off and hide in a graveyard—just for a relief of an escape At least the corpses would not talk to them

And when a man gets that tired feeling there is nothing on earth will revive his fascination or love or bring back his interest He is simply fed up—tired out of love

A third type of stepper-outer is the hopeless one who takes a lot of men onto the Primrose Path because he imagines that he is in love with another woman and has found the great passion of his life And the man who imagines that he is in love with another woman is hopeless—just as long as he thinks that he is in love Only time and the other woman can wake him out of his dream — which fortunately they often do But you can never win him back You can only give him so much rope that he'll come running back himself and beg you to put him on a four foot leash

But If home is where the heart is there is a home for all wandering lovers and wavering husbands

Scores Victories Over Findlay and Mansfield

Loss of Two to Fremont Only Defeats in Five Games; at Fostoria Wednesday.

By CHARLES HOSTELLER

Marion's Ohio State league baseball club, after a 10 days of five week-end holiday games, today stands six games out of first place behind the pace-setting Mansfield Red Sox. Marion opened its holiday campaign with a 12 to 10 win over the Sox at Lincoln park stadium Saturday. Then journeying to Findlay to take both ends of the July Fourth doubleheader and yesterday was turned back in two contests by the Fremont Reds of Fremont.

Marion's double win over Findlay found two games going on the winning side of the ledger by identical scores of 9 to 1, while yesterday the Fremont Reds won the first, 7 to 5, and shut Marion out in the nightcap, 10 to 0. After absorbing the 12 to 10 defeat here Saturday, the league-leading Red Sox swept through the four holiday games by taking two from Findlay Sunday and walloping Fostoria in both ends of a doubleheader yesterday.

Six games are scheduled today in the Ohio State circuit. The clubs will resume activity tomorrow afternoon. Marion is booked to play at Fostoria, Wednesday, entertains the same club at Lincoln park Thursday and is host to Fremont will make its first visit to the Marion diamond. The complete schedule for tomorrow will be found elsewhere on the sports page.

Pitch Four-Hit Games

Woody Gardner and Ira Baker, Fremont hurlers, held the Bucklift in yesterday's games with Marion. Each of them hurled four hit ball to permit the Reds to take both ends of the twin bill. In the first game Fremont opened with two runs in the initial inning and Marion tied the count with a pair of tallies in the second. Two additional runs in the fourth and one in the seventh gave Fremont a 5 to 1 lead, with Marion tallying a single run in the last of the inning. Fremont's pair in the ninth rally saved the day when Marion came through in the last of the closing inning to register two runs but fell short of overtaking the hard slugging Reds.

The second encounter went entirely as the Fremonters had hoped, with Marion being shut out on the four scattered hits allowed by Baker. The Reds cracked out 11 hits including a homer and double off the offerings of Bob Van Bergen, the Marion right-hander. Marion's invasion of the Findlay park the previous day was much more successful, the locals returning with a pair of 9 to 1 victories. In the first game, Gordon "Slim" Mann, the right-handed Californian, added his sixth straight pitching victory.

Player Injured

Mann's record in the league today is second only to Mansfield's Schneidmueller, who has turned in eight straight victories. Johnny Brich, pitcher, substituted at first base for Ted Sword, because of an injury the latter suffered when spiked by a Mansfield runner in Saturday's game. Brich got four singles in the pair of doubleheaders Sunday and Monday and cracked out home runs in each of the games against Findlay.

The second victory over Findlay went into the records for Marion "Lefty" Spence, only southpaw of the Marion pitching staff. Allowing seven scattered singles, Spence fanned six hitters and issued but four passes to first. The victory for Spence was his fifth in eight games. Box scores of Marion's four games and the results by innings of the other Ohio State league encounters follow.

Sluggers Work Out in Sixteen Holiday Games for 184 Runs.

BY DREW MIDDLETON

Associated Press Sports Writer

The gent who said this was going to be a pitchers' year in baseball apparently is in the same class with the boys who picked Custer over the Indians.

The major league teams scored the awesome total of 184 runs, an average of more than 10 a game, to the delight of 216,326 fans who saw 16 games yesterday. The cannonading was at its heyday in Chicago, where 41 runs were scored as the Cubs beat the Cards twice and lengthened their lead over the Giants to two full games.

The Cubs won both games of their long and violent double duel with the Cards, the Redbirds opener, 13-12, and the nightcap, 9-7, before a jubilant crowd of 39,249, record for the season.

Hero of the six hours and 22 minutes of baseball was Frank Demaree, Cub outfielder, who collected six for seven in the opener, and got two more hits and scored the winning run in the second contest. The defeats dropped the Gas Housers to fourth place.

The Giants lost a game to the Cubs in the standings when the rejuvenated Bees rallied to win the nightcap, 8-6, after having been frustrated by Cliff Melton's hurling in the opener, 6-2.

Only slightly less exultant than the Chicago slugging was the show put on by the Yankees in their double win over the Red Sox. The Yanks took both ends from Boston, 15-0, 8-4, with Charlie Ruffing and Spud Chandler supplying the hurling. Joe DiMaggio's 20th homer with three aboard, which won the second game, two circuit clouts by Captain Lou Gehrig, and one by Bill Dickey made the 61,146 fans forget the hurlers.

The St. Louis Browns took a grissomine double beating from the Indians, 14-4, 15-6. The Tribe's artillery found the hapless Brown mound staff for 38 hits with Hal Trosky smacking three over the wall in the opener and Roy Weatherly and Julius Solters hitting four in the nightcap.

Home runs were in the fore in Detroit where Rudy York and Hank Greenberg contributed circuit drives to Detroit's clean sweep over Chicago, 8-1 and 7-4, and annexation of second place in the American league. York's drive with two on in the tenth won the nightcap.

Good pitching bobbed up in the Pirate-Red games. Jim Weaver and Ed Brandt beat the Reds for the Bucs, 3-1, and 5-1, with Weaver hurling a six-hitter.

Jimmy Deshong won the opener for the Senators over the Athletics 5-3 and the hurlers continued on top in the second contest, a 2-2 tie, which was called in the 11th because of darkness. Fred Frankhouse gave Brooklyn a split with the Phillies on a five-hit, 7 to 1, performance after Sylvester Johnson had stopped the Dodgers in the opener, 3-1.

COLUMBUS WINS TWO TO LAND IN TIE FOR SECOND POSITION

Millers Take Two in Row To Strengthen Hold on Top Spot.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 6—The league leading Minneapolis Millers chose yesterday's holiday doubleheader to further assert their independence in the race for the American Association championship.

The Millers took their neighbors, the St. Paul Saints, by scores of 5 to 4 and 4 to 3 to sweep a four game series. At the same time Columbus went into a tie for second place by defeating the Toledo Mudhens for their second and third consecutive games and Indianapolis broke even with Louisville.

Extra inning contests featured play on other fronts with Toledo falling a victim, by a 5 to 4 count in the longest game of the day, a 14-inning affair that started in the afternoon and ended under the lights.

After Columbus had rallied with three runs to tie the score in the eighth inning of the first game, both clubs went scoreless until the 14th. Ross Slaughter then singled—his 33rd consecutive game—to score pitcher Maxie Mason with the winning run. It also was Mason his 13th win of the year.

The Mudhens dropped the second game when Columbus broke a tie with a three-run rally in the seventh and went on to win by that margin, 7-4.

Louisville and Indianapolis packed two pitching gems in their double bill. The Colonels won the opener 2-1 in the tenth on pinch hitter Rock Marrow's single. In the second game Teats and McLaughlin battled along in a scoreless duel until the ninth when the Indians gained a 10 decision on Red Jeffcoat's single and Bill Lawrence's double.

Kansas City made it four out of five in the series with Milwaukee by dividing two games with the Brewers and 10's.

... up for lost time ... and round in just ... after driving the Californian away from the corner several times. Kenaston finally charged in, slugging his opponent to the floor and, applying a double wing spread, made Travis concede the round. Kenaston's telling hold was applied as he squatted on the back of opponent's neck and pulled both of Travis' arms up behind him at full length.

Working on the principle of an 'eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,' Kenaston delivered the goods in short order in the deciding round as he handed back Travis' rough stuff in no light fashion. Travis' finger-splitting tactics ended abruptly when Kenaston planted a kick to the shins of his opponent each time the Californian became nasty. Travis, however, edged his way close to scoring the fall with a hammerlock, but the grapplers were separated when the referee warned Travis for low punching.

Kenaston rabbit-punched and pulled hair to break his opponent's finger hold and on several occasions threw the Californian back full-length to the mat in retaliation of the rough tactics. While Travis tried vainly to floor him with a hammerlock, Kenaston lifted the Californian and inaugurated the fatal airplane spin. First winding and then unwinding his opponent, Kenaston crashed Travis into the mat with such force that the Californian actually bounced as he hit the canvas. The slam gave Kenaston the deciding round in 14 minutes.

Veteran Teddy Watters, who hails from Gallup, N. M., tasted defeat at the hands of the youthful Cecil McGill of Long Beach, Calif. Watters, well-known as one of the most successful and clever leg wrestlers to appear here in a long time, was beaten at his own game by the lithe, lanky Californian. McGill won the first round with an Indian deathlock in 18 minutes, after the pair had sparred and blocked with head and leg holds.

McGill opened the second round with an arm hold, but Watters retaliated with a body scissors and tough hammerlock. While applying the lock, Watters administered a series of rib-crushing shoulder dives but his younger opponent only took them and returned for more. McGill finally spilled out of the hammerlock with a toe hold to score the fall with it and win in seven minutes.

Lon Chaney of Indianapolis won over Sailor Olsen of Milwaukee in the 20-miaute preliminary. The opener was fast and rough from the start, but Chaney brought a halt to the affair at the end of 10 minutes when he won with a backbreaker.

Marion Nine Plays Errorless Ball; Game Scheduled With Lima Rained Out.

Marion's Junior Legion team, in its only game over the holiday week-end, scored its second victory in three starts by winning over Richwood, 3 to 0, yesterday afternoon, on the Uncapher avenue diamond. The game was originally scheduled for the Union county diamond but was transferred here because of wet grounds at Richwood.

Another scheduled week-end game, set for Lima, Sunday afternoon, was rained out. The Richwood-Marion game became the first contest to go into the records with a Marion Junior Legion club turning in an errorless performance. Last Wednesday, against Kenton, the Marion club went eight innings without an error, only to commit four in the ninth.

At a meeting Saturday night in Columbus of district representatives, Marion's club drew a bye for the first round of the sixth district tournament. Marion's opponent will be the winner of a contest to be held in Columbus next Thursday between a Columbus nine and Newark. Marion will have its first taste of tourney competition with a game Friday, which is likely to be played in the Red Bird stadium in the Capital city.

The box score of the Richwood-Marion game, played yesterday, follows:

Europe Retains Pretzel Track Racing Laurels

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6—Pretzel racing, even in a modified form is still a European specialty.

For the second straight year, America's foremost auto racers in domestic-built cars tried to challenge the supremacy of the European dare devils on the pretzel-shaped Roosevelt speedway yesterday but for the second time they were repulsed.

Following up where Tazio Nuvolari of Italy started with last year's victory, Bernd Rosemeyer of Germany came through with a thrilling triumph to win first prize of $20,000 before 70,000 spectators. He streaked over the 300-mile distance in three hours and 38 minutes, or an average speed of 82.86 miles per hour. Nuvolari's time last year was 69.908 miles per hour.

Rosemeyer won after a spirited battle with an English driver, Richard Seaman, who stayed almost on the Teuton's rear-bumper until right near the finish, when he was forced to leave the track to refuel. The tough break left Seaman 51 seconds behind Rosemeyer at the finish.

America's Rex Mays rode a great race to win third place. Operating a rebuilt car Mays gave a great exhibition of driving and judgment. He was five minutes and 23 seconds behind Seaman.

NATS 8-5 FAVORITES IN ALL-STAR CONTEST

Managers Making Selections for Starting Lineups for Tomorrow's Game.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 6—Pilot Bill Terry has crowded his National League roster for baseball's All-Star game tomorrow with ages from pennant-contending clubs.

Skipper Joe McCarthy, on the other hand, has picked more than a third of his players from the American League's second division teams. It doesn't mean, however, he is taking the contest lightly.

The Nationals not only have their usual edge in hurling but also have rounded up a squad that collectively, by has outhit the Americans this season. The Nationals are 8 to 5 favorites.

The Americans likely will start with Lou Gehrig, Charles Gehringer, Joe Cronin and Bob Rolfe in the infield.

If a southpaw starts for the Nationals, McCarthy may use Hank Greenberg and Harlan Clift in place of Gehrig and Rolfe. Earl Averill, Joe DiMaggio and Roy Bell will give McCarthy his maximum outfield hitting strength, although he may use Wally Moses and Roger Cramer.

If he nominates Goofy Gomez to pitch, Bill Dickey will catch. Rick Ferrell probably will work with Lefty Grove and Luke Sewell with Monty Stratton.

Gomez or Tommy Bridges is the most likely starting pitcher.

Carl Hubbell, who has had almost a week's rest, is certain to work, but Terry may send Van Lingle Mungo out first. If Hubbell pitches, Mancuso will catch. Otherwise Gabby Hartnett probably will be behind the bat.

Fair weather is expected. A capacity crowd of about 32,000 was assured.

SNATCHES OF SPORT

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6—Say the speedway. The surprise of the race was Richard Seaman, the Englishman. The hero was Rex Mays of California. Seaman, in his Mercedes, was a factor from the start. At times near the end, he was less than 10 seconds behind the roaring Rosemeyer. Mays drove a terrific race. He was in an old broken-down which had been used by Tazio Nuvolari, last year's champ, as a tune-up job.

The dolls went for Nuvolari in a big way. He was easily the snazziest guy on the track. He raced in a get-up of green coat, yellow sweater and blue pants. But the real reason for his popularity was that he never turned down an autograph hunter, particularly a woman. The Mercedes team—Seaman and Rudolf Caracciola—made it a point to get all their signals on the second straightaway, so the other teams couldn't see them. The speedy Germans were impressed that the smaller, lower-powered American machines stood up so well.

Not a driver took a drink after being relieved. That request of Giuseppe Farina, one of the Italian aces, was for an apple. Nuvolari sat in his racer and ate ice cream after fairly whining forced him to the sidelines. Caracciola, the German with the Italian name, asked for cigarets. Rosemeyer was the crowd's man, for he drove a swell and daring race, but Rex Mays was the drivers' driver. Rex made monkeys of them all on the turns.

* * *

From the standpoint of the working press it was the best handled major sporting event in years. Steve Hannagan ought to take a few bows for himself. All a reporter had to do was get there. The rest, if not handed to him on a silver platter, certainly was dished up in big league style on automatic dishers.

RICHWOOD TEAM DEFEATED, 7 TO 6

RICHWOOD, July 6—Scoring two runs in the final frame, Broadway Independence defeated Richwood yesterday, 7 to 6. Davis clouted four singles for Broadway and Allgower and Hickok two each for Richwood.

The Gumps — By Gus Edson

OH, ANDY—I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU! THIS HAS BEEN A REGULAR MADHOUSE FOR DAYS! SPAIN IS THE GARDEN OF EDEN BY COMPARISON! MRS. DE STROSS IS ON THE WARPATH AGAIN
WHAT'S EATING THE OLD DRAGON NOW?
IN A RADIOGRAM, BIM MENTIONED A YOUNG LADY HE MET ON THE BOAT—HE SAID HE LENT HER $2000 AND THE OLD LADY THREATENS TO SEE HER LAWYER
WHAT? HE LENT A STRANGER $2000?—WILL THAT SAP NEVER LEARN? THERE'S AN OLD SAYING—"EXPERIENCE TEACHES THAT EXPERIENCE TEACHES—NOTHING"!
AH, MRS. DE STROSS—AND HOW ARE YOU THIS FINE——?
—OUT OF MY WAY, POODLE! I'M GOING TO SEE MY LAWYER!!
NOW, NOW, CALM YOURSELF MRS DE STROSS—I'M SURE BIM MEANT NO HARM LENDING THAT YOUNG LADY MONEY—HIS ONLY FAULT IS HIS GREAT BIG KINDLY HEART—TAKE MY ADVICE—AND—YOU TAKE MY ADVICE, ANDY GUMP!—
—AND KEEP THAT LONG NOSE OF YOURS OUT OF THIS—I'M GOING TO SEE MY LAWYER AND NOBODY'S GOING TO ARGUE ME OUT OF IT!
WHAT'S THE USE, ANDY—YOU MIGHT AS WELL LET HER HAVE HER OWN WAY—
OH SURE—I'LL LET HER HAVE HER OWN WAY—AND I'LL ALSO LET IT RAIN WHEN IT WANTS TO—AND IF THE WIND WANTS TO BLOW, AND IF IT THUNDERS AND LIGHTNINGS, I WON'T INTERFERE WITH THAT EITHER!

STOCKS JUMP UP TO 3 POINTS

Steels, Rails, Aircrafts and Motors Lead Advance Along Broad Front.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6—Buyers flocked to the stock market today, pushing prices of leading shares fractions to three points or more higher in the most active session in weeks.

The rally was general, with steels, rails, aircraft and motor shares in strongest demand. Traders interpreted the back-to-work movement in the steel industry as a harbinger of more peaceful times and acted accordingly.

U. S. Steel, bell wether of the flock, was up from the start and toward the third hour had added around four points. Sizeable advances were recore for Republic, Inlan, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

On the domestic front there were reports of better prospects for rail earnings in the third quarter, heavy second quater deliveries of aircraft and engines and renewed indications of good crops.

Shares that pushed forward vigorously included General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Baltimore & Ohio, Westinghouse and General Electric.

Grains rallied. Bonds improved.

Returning from a three-day holiday, board room observers had a variety of news to discuss.

The fact that new passenger car sales in May, despite sporadic strikes that cut down production, were reported by R. L. Polk & Co at only one per cent less than for the same month in 1926 was noted.

Reduction of the discount rate of the Bank of France to 5 per cent from 6 per cent was taken as an indication the Chautemps government had weathered for the time at least, the financial crisis which last week caused suspension of gold payments. Brokers said, however, they expected no immediate flight of French capital from American securities.

WHEAT PRICES FALL AMID PROFIT-TAKING

Late Reaction Follows Upturns to New Peaks for Session.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 6—Late heavy profit-taking sales that for the most part came from eastern sources led to sudden setbacks in wheat prices today near the end of trading.

The late reactions of wheat followed upturns to new peak prices for the session. Pessimistic crop reports from North American wheat areas both winter and spring continued, with little attention focused largely on black rust developments.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to 1¾ lower compared with Saturday's finish, July 124⅝-124⅞, Sept. 120⅞-121⅛, corn unchanged to 2¾ higher, July 1.05⅝-05⅞, Sept. 1.13⅛-13⅜, and oats unchanged to ⅜ off.

50 PER CENT SLASH IN RELIEF LOAD SEEN

Senate Expert Expects $8,000,000 Outlay Instead of $15,000,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 6 — A reduction of more than 50 per cent in Ohio's poor relief load was indicated today in legislative estimates of financial assistance for the indigent.

Sen. Harold D. Nichols, senate relief expert, has drafted a program providing for the outlay of $8,000,000 for relief during the next year. This compares with his estimate of $15,000,000, made early in the year, and 1936 expenditures approximating $27,000,000.

Of the $8,000,000, Nichols would have the state provide half and require local governments to match state grants.

Last figures released by the state relief commission before it went out of existence April 15 indicated there were about 500,000 persons on the relief rolls.

This figure has been cut sharply since the state threw entire responsibility for the needy upon municipalities and townships. The indigent previously received help through a state county set up.

Sen. Nichols said that the local governments might not be able to shoulder all the relief burden this winter and has recommended that the legislature set up a program this summer.

GROCERY CLOSING ISSUE IS QUIET

No Pickets Out This Morning; All To Open Tomorrow.

The Wednesday afternoon closing issue between members of the Marion Food Distributors association and 35 other grocers apparently was at rest today, temporarily at least.

Plans reported made last week for daily picketing of the stores that refused to close on Wednesday afternoons during summer months did not materialize this morning.

F. R. McDaniel, president of the association, said he did not know anything about plans for daily picketing. Although plans were also made last week for a meeting of the association's members Mr. McDaniel said he knew of no meeting planned for this week.

The general closing of stores yesterday for the Monday holiday resulted in grocers and other food dealers in the association planning to keep their stores open tomorrow afternoon and to resume Wednesday closing next week.

PATTERN 4450

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, July 7

A VERY lively state of affairs with much commotion and activity is the augury based on the predominant planetary influences This sudden activity and enterprise may be precipitated by hasty and unexpected news calling for new arrangements but with deliberation and calmness rather than impetuosity and recklessness or strife There may be some concern about an elderly person but generally private affairs are gratifying as well as beneficial

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of very lively and stirring conditions with new plans and arrangements growing from sudden news of importance This new order should not be embraced with rashness or impetuosity as calmness and wisdom may bring unexpected benefits An anxiety over an elder is probable and may assist in shaping the plans which however, may call for postponements or adjustments.

A child born on this day may be active and energetic when its interests are aroused although ordinarily it will be slow painstaking and moods with tendencies toward procrastination At times it may be restless and unsettled

Toots and Casper — By Jimmie Murphy

CASPER, IS TOOTS HOME?
MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME, JULIA! I'M GOING UPTOWN NOW TO PICK UP TOOTS AND WE'LL BE RIGHT BACK-
IT MAY BE NONE OF MY AFFAIRS, BUT I'M GOING TO SEE TO IT THAT LITTLE CLARICE DOESN'T THROW HER LIFE AWAY WITH A WORTHLESS NOBODY LIKE TOOTS AND MABEL DID!
TOMMY HAS NOTHING! WHY SHOULD SHE WASTE HER TIME WITH HIM WHEN THERE ARE ELIGIBLE MILLIONAIRES TO SET HER CAP FOR— HERE'S TOMMY NOW! I'LL TELL HIM TO KEEP AWAY FROM HERE AFTER THIS—
JIMMY MURPHY
BUT WHY SHOULD I STAY AWAY FROM CLARICE?
BECAUSE YOU HAVE NEITHER MONEY NOR PROSPECTS, AND IF YOU REALLY CARE FOR HER YOU'LL SACRIFICE YOURSELF AND GIVE HER A CHANCE SOMEDAY TO MARRY SOME-ONE WHO CAN GIVE HER LUXURIES

SOMEBODY OUGHT TO ERECT A SOLID GOLD MONUMENT TO THE MAN WHO INVENTED VACATIONS THERE WAS A TRUE FRIEND OF MANKIND IF IT WASN'T FOR HIM, BY THIS TIME WE WOULD ALL BE DEAD FROM OVERWORK—
THAT'S ONE KIND OF SICKNESS I NEVER SAW YOU SUFFER FROM OF COURSE, I KNOW YOU HAVE TAKEN EVERY PRECAUTION TO PROTECT YOUR HEALTH THE WAY YOU AVOID WORK I CAN SEE YOU ARE CONVINCED THAT WORK LIKE FEVER IS CONTAGIOUS
IF I HAD MY WAY, EVERYBODY WOULD HAVE A SIX-MONTHS VACATION AT LEAST TWICE A YEAR I ALWAYS SAY IF WORK WAS SO IMPORTANT THE DONKEY WOULD BE KING OF THE BEASTS
I'VE ALWAYS THOUGHT THE BUSY BEE WAS A SILLY SAP - OUT IN THE HOT SUN, FLYING MADLY AROUND BRINGING HOME HONEY - AND WHEN HE FINISHED THAT JOB SOME SMART GUY COMES ALONG AND TAKES THE HONEY
GWAN- YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN U
